Rec programs fill empty days

By TOM KISKEN

Bored with your summer in the Glades? Take your complaints to either Willie McDonald, of Belle Glade, or Don Thompson, of Pahokee, and they'll direct you to their respective city recreation programs where over 500 youth have found plenty of activities to fill their days.

In his fifth year as supervisor of the Belle Glade city program, McDonald said, "I want to entertain the youngsters, give them something to do and keep them off the streets."

Thompson, who is in first year with the Pahokee program, echoed these sentiments, "The streets are a real strong magnet to these children. But if you give them some footballs and basketballs and allow the spirit of competition to rise, I think you're going to get a lot of participation."

Belle Glade

McDonald said over 300 kids have been attending the program daily with attendance growing every week. He said one of his major aims through the program is to give youth a healthy way to release their pent up energy.

"When the kids are done here they should be good and tired. All they should want to do is go home, eat, maybe watch some TV and go to bed," McDonald said. "If a mind or body gets idle, that's when all kinds of ideas start cropping up."

McDonald noted his program has grown in popularity with both kids and parents. This year the kids started calling him on the phone and asking about the program as soon as school let out.

Stepherson sworn in; will not seek new term

BELLE GLADE—The newest member of the coordinator position on the Palm Beach County School Board, LaVoise Stepherson said she will not seek re-election although her term expires in November.

Stepherson, 36, of 900 S.W. Ave. E, Belle Glade, was scheduled to be sworn into her position at the school board, Wednesday, July 18, at Lake Shore Middle School.

Stepherson was appointed by Gov. Bob Graham to replace Sam Board in 1980, defeated Lovell who resigned by Lovell.

Owner and funeral director of the Taylor Funeral Home. Stepherson said she planned to research the county's educational system and then decide what her priorities should be on the board.

A special concern, she added, is the quality of education in the west area of the county.

Stepherson said her background in education has given her the ability to assess educational needs. She has earned a masters degree and education specialist certificate in counselor education at the University of Florida. Stepherson taught for two years at Lake Shore Middle School and Belle Glade High School in the early 1970's and worked as an administrator for three years at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Va. Born in West Palm Beach, Stepherson was raised in Belle Glade and has lived in the Glades virtually all her life.

Bennett stressed no new tickets will be printed for the giveaway. About 800 tickets have been printed.

Qualifying to begin

BELLE GLADE—Candidates for two seats on the Belle Glade City Commission can qualify, Friday July 27, for the election slated Tuesday, Sept. 11.

City Clerk June Boglioli asked those interested in qualifying to stop by the clerk's office in city hall in order to pick up packets and to read election rules. Candidates must follow certain steps before qualifying such as opening a campaign account, she added.

Offices up for election are the at-large commission seats currently held by Mayor Thomas Altman and Charles Goodlett. Boglioli said that as of

Sailboat race is on

"The race is on."

Thus spoke Jack Clarke, of Delray Beach sailing school the United States Academy of Sailing in a telephone interview, Tuesday, July 17, after learning the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce had conditionally agreed to help with the first ever catamaran race across Lake Okechobee. The sailing school will meet all conditions set down by the chamber, he added.

The race, Clarke said, will depart out of Pahokee en route to Okechobee, Saturday, Oct. 6.

Clarke said he expected the race to attract anywhere from 200 to 500 sailboats coming from as far away as Texas and Virginia.

While most of the racers will be staying at the Okechobee campgrounds, hopefully at least 400 people will commute to the Pahokee waterfront the day of the race, Clarke said. "It's going to be one heck of a deal."

According to the conditions set down by chamber directors, in a special meeting Monday, July 16, the chamber will sponsor an exclusive all you can eat pancake breakfast the morning of the race.

Directors asked the $5 price of the breakfast be worked right into the racer's entry fee. Clarke said the fee arrangement would be worked out, adding that the chamber would be paid for the breakfast before race and would be told exactly how many people to expect. Chamber directors also said they would look into the possibility of selling soda and t-shirts at the race.

Directors also expressed concern about insurance needs for the race. Clarke said the sailing school would cover anyone involved with the race.

For their part, chamber directors will provide chase boats, help at the start of the race, and transportation to and from Okechobee.

Currently, Clarke said he is putting together a brochure which will outline the details of the race. Rules for the race are also being put together, Clarke said.

The race has been scheduled for October in hopes that weather will be relatively calm, Clarke said. Catamarans, he noted, are extremely durable boats which can withstand very rough conditions.

Although at an earlier chamber meeting, Clarke said a cash prize of $10,000 was being considered, he noted Tuesday, July 17 that the amateur status of most of the racers prevents them from accepting a large cash prize. Instead gold and silver medals will be issued to top racers, while all participants will receive a bronze medallion.

South Bay hires an attorney

SOUTH BAY—The South Bay City Commission voted unanimously to hire Thomas Montgomery as the city's attorney, in its regular meeting, Tuesday, July 17.

Montgomery, 35, who operates a Belle Glade law office and lives in Royal Palm Beach, will be paid $350 a month plus an additional $75 for any litigation or outside work.

A graduate of Florida State University, Montgomery has operated his Belle Glade law practice for 10 years and previously worked two years for Florida Rural Legal Services, out of Belle Glade.

Montgomery is currently vacationing out of the country and was not available for comment. He was represented at Tuesday's meeting by Cynthia Kieschnick.

Commissioner Clarence Anthony recommended the commission hire Montgomery citing his experience and availability for consultation. "I'd like to see our attorney accessible to our staff," he said.

Montgomery will assume his duties, Monday, July 23. Jim Gann, current city attorney, will continue to pursue some pending cases. Gann, the city's attorney for about five years informed the commission back in May that he would resign his position due to lack of time.

Bronco drawing slated Saturday

PAHOKEE—Pahokee Chamber of Commerce directors plan on drawing the winning ticket in the 1984 Ford Bronco II giveaway, Saturday, July 21, beginning at 6 p.m. at the Prince Theater.

Several prizes in addition to the Bronco will be drawn, including a row and reel fishing set, a quartz watch and cooler. All tickets will be drawn with the last ticket winning the Bronco.

Tickets can be obtained for $30 from any Chamber of Commerce director or at the chamber office.

Chamber President Jim Bennett said that as of, Monday, July 16, the chamber needed to sell 100 tickets in order to break even on the $12,500 Bronco. He urged area residents to support the chamber by purchasing the ticket. "We've still got a long way to go," he said.

The Bronco, Bennett said, will be drawn whether or not the chamber raises sufficient funds. Directors will meet at the Lake Club, Friday, July 20, in order to collect money and assess the situation. Directors, at a meeting Monday, July 16, discussed co-signing a note if sufficient funds are not raised.

The Bronco, displayed at Pahokee Ford, was originally slated to be given away during Freedom Fest activities, Wednesday, July 4, but not enough tickets were bought.

Church work begins

BELLE GLADE—Sacrifice and work on part of the entire First Baptist Church congregation has made the construction of a new church building possible, according to the Rev. Bob Atkins.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held at the construction site, the corner of Main St. and N.W. Ave. B, on Wednesday, July 11. Atkins said the event was the culmination of five years of planning and fund raising. "The credit should go to the congregation, they're the ones building the church," he said.

Work on the new church foundation began Monday, July 15 and completion of the $900,000 project is forecast for April. The building, which will be connected to the current church, will measure 162 feet by 68 feet and will include a 550-seat worship center, church offices, parlor, rehearsal room and classrooms.

The congregation over the past five years has donated and raised enough funds so the church will probably only have to borrow about $150,000 for the total project, significantly less than originally predicted. Atkins said, "I have been very encouraged by the way the congregation has chipped in and participated in this project."

The congregation first began planning for the new facility about five years ago when needs for more space became obvious. Atkins said at first the congregation considered simply enlarging the current church, but decided it would be more feasible just to build a new facility.

"The primary thing we'll get out of this is a beautiful building to help bring the glory of God to people," he said. Hopefully, the new building will attract new people to the congregation, which currently stands at 1,400, Atkins continued.

Other additions to the church will include a 66-seat choir loft, traditional stained glass windows (a first for the church) and improved light and sound equipment.

Upon completion of the project, the current church will still be used for educational purposes on Sunday, while the worship center will be utilized by the Spanish mission class. During the week, the church will continue to be used by Christian Day School classes.

Atkins singled out members of the church's building and furnishing committee for their work in making the construction project possible. Building committee members include: John Schlechter, John David Chambliss, P.G. "Buck" Herring, George Goforth Jr. and Dickie Snow. Members of the furnishing committee include: Joyce Chambliss, chairman, Betty Thiebaut and Margaret Earwood.

Architect for the project is Richard Wensing, of West Palm Beach. Howard Cook, also of West Palm Beach, is the contractor.

the commission hire Michael Grindstaff, of Belle Glade, died due to lack of a second. Tanner pointed at Grindstaff's law partnership with experienced highly regarded attorneys such as John Baker, Belle Glade's city attorney, as a major reason for the motion.

The commission also interviewed Dorothy Walker, of Belle Glade, about the position at Tuesday's meeting.

In other city business: Commissioners voted unanimously to hire six city youth to work seven hours a day for the rest of the summer in various city departments. Commissioner Willie Marshall moved for the hiring, noting the city currently employs only two youth from the Palm Beach County Urban League summer jobs program. In the past the city has averaged about 10 summer jobs youth a year.

The city will follow the guidelines set up by the Urban League program. The only difference will be that the city will foot the bill for the paychecks.

A letter will be sent to the Department of Transportation asking that an extra deceleration lane be put in on N.W. 4th St. off of US 27, just opposite of Terry's Restaurant. The DOT had earlier recommended that deceleration lanes be put in on both Northwest 4th and 3rd streets. However, Marshall said the extra lane

Belle Glade, was charged Thursday with forgery, grand theft and theft of U.S. mail. Martinez was accused of stealing and cashing a U.S. Treasury income tax refund check worth $1,147 taken out of someone else's mailbox. Hevey investigated the matter immediately after the crime, but could not press charges until June 17, when the check was obtained back from the Secret Service.

Two other arrests were made for forgery during the week. Detective Albert Dowdell arrested Patrolman Shane Hoff charged Alfred Jerry Jones and Loren Hollingsworth with attempting to pass off photocopies of $20 bills, late Sunday evening, July 15, at the 2001 Disco, 200 S.W. Fifth St.

Non-licensed builders causing concern

BELLE GLADE Residents interested in expanding their mobile homes should be wary of non-licensed contractors, warns Belle Glade Building Inspector Barry Underwood.

Firms, despite having neither city nor county permits, are illegally accepting jobs for mobile home construction, Underwood said. He urged residents to contact him at City Hall, 996-0100, before hiring contractors.

"Even if they don't contact me, they should at least check out the company and make sure they're reputable," Underwood said. People who go ahead and hire non-licensed contractors are putting their own necks on the line, he added.

Underwood explained that if a non-licensed contractor finishes a project which does not meet standards, the city can do very little about getting the contractor back to finish the job properly.

"There's nothing I can do I have no legal recourse because I have no permit to back me up," he said.

The city can do nothing about the non-licensed contractors unless they catch them on the job, he said.

A contractor, in order to accept jobs within Belle Glade, must either have a permit with the city, the county, or with an agency which has a reciprocity agreement with the city.

on 3rd Street would block traffic from Bob's Truck Stop. Marshall suggested the city ask for only an extra lane on 4th Street.

Representatives from the Community Action Council asked the commission for a substantial increase in next year's budget appropriations. CAC is asking for $30,000 from the city, but representatives said they would appreciate whatever help they could get. Commissioners indicated they would consider the issue when budget workshops begin later this summer.

Several city residents issued complaints about possible health hazards in the city.

Rennick Morris, former commissioner, urged the commission to cut the grass in vacant fields and clean up dumpsters throughout the city. Others in the audience complained about the recent proliferation of mosquitoes. One woman urged the city to spray for the insects, adding that she was afraid of contracting disease.

Complaints were also issued about the recent proliferation of various types of street crime and drug use. Marshall assured residents that the commission was looking into these problems.

The need for paving on Northwest Sixth Street was another topic of discussion. City Manager Lomax Harrelle told residents that the street was forecast to be completed by Community Development in about two years. Anthony stressed that the commission would try to address the issue sooner, if additional Community Development funds become

MAN wounded in shooting accident

PAHOKEE A man was listed in critical condition in Everglades Memorial Hospital, Thursday, July 12, after being wounded by his brother in an accidental shooting, according to sheriff's reports.

Palm Beach County Sheriff's Detective Jessie Simmonds, of the Glades Sub Station, said James Allen Pickard, of Pembroke Pines, was rushed into the operating room for emergency surgery Thursday at about 6:30 p.m. He suffered a gun wound in the right side of his abdomen, he said. Simmonds said apparently Pickard and his brother Robert were near US 441 at the Palm Beach Martin county line, dry firing a .38 calibre automatic pistol when the gun discharged.

Pickard was transferred to a coastal hospital after his emergency surgery in Pahokee, Simmonds said. No charges were filed.

Cycle recovered by SB police

SOUTH BAY Police recovered a stolen motorcycle, charging a local man with grand theft, Thursday, July 12.

South Bay Patrolman Ray Ruby reported he discovered the 1980 Suzuki motorcycle, reported stolen a month earlier by a South Bay couple, while walking on patrol through the projects Thursday. James Tillman, 18, 701 Oak Court, was brought in for questioning and confessed to stealing the bike, Ruby said. Tillman was charged with grand theft. Earlier Thursday, Tillman had been stopped while driving the motorcycle on N.W. 10th Avenue and issued five citations, ranging from reckless driving to not having a driver's license.

Election

Monday, July 16 only Goodlett had picked up a qualification packet. The last day to qualify for the election is Friday, Aug. 10.

Voter registration is currently being conducted at the clerk's office in City Hall and at the Glades Office Building. The last day to register is Saturday, Aug. 11.

According to a court settlement reached earlier this year between the City of Belle Glade and Florida Legal Rural Services, all five seats on the commission will be elected at-large. In the past candidates for three of the seats were required to live within specific districts. Both seats up for election this year have always been at large.

Summer recreation programs

School as well as track coach, McDonald said he hopes to continue as director for the program as long as he is in Belle Glade. "It's become a part of me," he said.

The rec program is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and will continue into August. The curriculum revolves around weight lifting and basketball.

Four days a week McDonald puts a group of the young men, many of them high school and college athletes, through an extensive workout program using both weights and calisthenics. The men rotate around the 21 stations set up in the Glades Central weight room, working for about 35 seconds at each stop.

Each station is designed to develop a certain part of the body. "Toning the body," McDonald said, is the purpose of the program. All athletes can benefit from the weight lifting, he said, not just body builders or football players. Bulk and heavy weights are not stressed as much as improving overall body strength and agility.

For proof of the effectiveness of the weights, McDonald pointed at last year's Glades Central football and track teams. Many of the athletes participated in the weight program and the work showed in the teams' play, he said.

The weight lifting sessions have been part of the city's rec program for all of McDonald's five years with the city. The program, he said, gives the youth a valuable opportunity to learn how to develop their bodies.

"When I was a boy I never had the chance to lift weights or do anything like that," McDonald said. "I want to give these kids something they wouldn't have a chance to get except through the city."

Basketball is the other mainstay of the city's rec program. The high school remains open throughout the day and pick-up games continue non-stop. A weekly round robin buckets tourney has also begun with the youth competing in three divisions: women, boys 12-15 years old and boys 16 and older. At the end of the summer the top teams in each division will compete in playoffs.

The track is also open five days a week and several Glades Central tracksters have been taking advantage of the opportunity to get some off-season practice.

For the younger set, every Wednesday the city provides transportation to and from Glades Skate World. A bus picks the kids up at 9 a.m. at Lake Shore Park and returns them to the park at 12 a.m. Each child is responsible for a $1 fare.

Also the public school students also benefit from the free lunch program provided by the Palm Beach County School Board.

Pahokee

Thompson said about 200 kids, from ages 7-19, are taking part in activities ranging from cards to football.

Good, wholesome physical activity is the motto Thompson stressed in describing the rec program. "Come on out to the Pahokee city recreation program and you'll find a meaningful clean program of physical development," he said.

The program, he said, is an important part of the community because it gives the kids an opportunity to grow physically. The local youth have really jumped at this opportunity. Thompson, a teacher at Pahokee High School as well as coach of the football team, said at the beginning of the summer he had hoped for 100-150 kids at the most.

Not only has the turnout been encouraging, but the attitude of the participants has been great, Thompson said. Noting often rec programs are victimized by vandals, he said, he had yet seen a problem among his kids.

"There's a real spirit out here," he said. "You can walk among the children here and you smile at them and they'll smile back."

Thompson said he hoped to continue and expand the program next year. While most of the kids at the rec program are junior and senior high school students, Thompson urged the younger children to also take advantage of the program.

All the kids, young and old, not only get the chance to play sports and lift weights, but also get valuable instruction, Thompson said, and the other instructors try to make sure that the rec program remains a learning experience. The instructors, while not ignoring discipline, also realize that they are dealing with children. "Children are a precious commodity and we try to keep that in mind here," he said.

The program is open Monday through Friday, from 3-9 p.m. The football field, tennis courts gym and weight room are open the entire six hours.

Thompson noted many of the Pahokee High School football players have used the rec program to work out both on the football field and in the weight room. In fact, he said, all players are expected to participate in the nightly weight lifting program.

The gym is usually the hub of activity, with kids competing in pickup basketball games as well as ping pong, pool, cards, chess and checkers.

Along with Thompson, Leonard Banks and Gerald Gowan supervise over the kids in the program. Several CETA employees have also been assigned to help out with the rec program.

Bible supports women's rights

"You've come a long way, Baby!"

The first women's right convention was held on July 19, 1848 in Seneca Falls, New York. And now as I write this article on Tuesday afternoon it looks as though a woman will run for the vice presidency. You can decide at the polls whether or not you want a woman in such a high position, but one thing cannot be denied, the women's rights movement has won some battles in the last 135 years.

I am delighted that women now have the right to vote, can earn a decent living, and enjoy the many other fruits of their long struggle for equality. But what disturbs me is when I hear some misinformed women's rights activist reveal her ignorance by saying that Christianity promotes male chauvinism. A study of Scripture and a little knowledge of sociology will prove that where ever Christianity has had its influence, women have been treated better than anywhere else.

Ancient Jewish men had a low view of women. In his morning prayer the Jewish man would give thanks that God had not made him "a Gentile, a slave or a woman." In Greek and Roman societies women were merely property. One Greek writer put it this way: "We have courtesans for the sake of pleasure; we have concubines for the sake of daily exhilaration; we have wives for the purpose of having children."

Paul made it very clear that as far as spiritual opportunity is concerned, in Christ there is no racial, class or sex distinction. Read Galatians 3:28. You may not always like some of the instructions the Bible gives concerning a woman's role, but you can't deny that wherever true Biblical Christianity has been accepted, women have received higher education and enjoyed greater social status.

legitimately and having a faithful guardian for all our household affairs." Socrates said: "Is there anyone to whom you entrust more serious matters than to your wife-and is there anyone to whom you talk least?"

Into this kind of world Jesus came. He was not ashamed to be found talking with an immoral Samaritan woman, though it was unacceptable in His day to converse with any woman in public, even one who, He had women following Him. In fact, financially support Him, during His three years of earthly ministry. When He rose from the grave, He did not appear first to Peter or one of the other disciples, but to a woman.

When the first century church began women were there and working. Several times we read of Priscilla and Aquila, who started a church in their home, and were such a help to Paul. Every time they are mentioned Priscilla's name comes first. Could it be that she was the preacher?

Paul made it very clear that as far as spiritual opportunity is concerned, in Christ there is no racial, class or sex distinction. Read Galatians 3:28.

You may not always like some of the instructions the Bible gives concerning a woman's role, but you can't deny that wherever true Biblical Christianity has been accepted, women have received higher education and enjoyed greater social status.

Wilders survive 1926 hurricane

Editor's note: the following is the third in a series recounting the early Glades experience of the Floyd Wilder family. Reprinted with the permission of "Tampa Bay History", Department of History, University of South Florida.

The next hurricane was not long in coming. On September 17, 1926 it hit Miami with winds of 140 miles an hour or better. High winds reached Lake Okeechobee on Sept. 18, and winds of severe hurricane strength swept across the lake and backed waters up in the southwest corner by morning. A great swell of water, ten or fifteen feet high, washed the dike away at Moore Haven, swept houses and buildings away, and drowned several hundred people.

Strangely enough, this hurricane did not do much damage to us, even though the wind was terrific. My father made a rope swing and tied it to the two by fours holding the roof. The larger ones of us took turns sitting in the swing, and the roof held and was only slightly damaged. Wind driven rain came into the house, but it was clean.

Vivian in Clewiston, was living with the Dinger family for whom she worked. She became uneasy as the storm gathered strength at night and at 1:30 a.m. she made her way to Madam and Papa Watanabe's Hotel on the ridge and rented a room. Many people were in the hotel and others continued to come even after the storm abated. The Watanabes, Japanese and good of heart, fed people all that day, and Vivian helped them. Wet clothes hung on the second floor screened in porch of the hotel for several days, and Vivian's room was piled high with wet clothes. Everyone made a run on Cecil Parkinson's store, and the women turned out in dungarees. Parkinson's completely sold out.

The Watanabes begged Vivian to stay on and work for them. She was glad to do so, because the dinger family, scared by the storm, left Clewiston. The Watanabes went back to Japan after a time, but Vivian continued on when Mrs. Downs took over the Clewiston Inn. She worked there for fifteen years.

All of us were brought up to work. Melvin and Raymond stayed around home, and they would go out to work in addition to helping my father farm. They worked on the barges that piled the lake. Melvin drove tractors, and he worked on Brown's peanut farm. Everyone did what they could to earn a buck.

My older brothers and sisters maintained that our dad never punished Laura or me because we were so young when our mother died. I can surely say that my dad got me one time. Raymond and I were out behind an old, blown down building, shucking corn, and Raymond had a pack of cigarettes. I talked him into letting me take a puff or two. I had just put the cigarette in my mouth when my dad stepped around the corner of the old building and caught me. He swatted me with a board, and the board had a nail in the end of it. He might let me take a puff of his cigar or a sip of his moonshine as I sat on his lap but he drew the line on a cigarette.

My father was always good to me and I was very close to him as long as he lived.

My father started farming at Gardner's place, which was south of the first curve of the highway going north out of South Bay. We moved into a small house there. In spite of setbacks, we were doing well by sending our produce by boat across the lake to Moore Haven; it went out by rail from there.

Canal Hazard Safety Committee Chairman Frank Jones said the project of four-laning SR 80 could be set back four or five months (EDITOR'S NOTE: Sound familiar?) because of several new delays.

The most pressing delays were reported to be caused by the county running out of funds to purchase the right-of-way and by the need to relocate utility lines owned by the City of Belle Glade from South Bay to Airport Road.

Pearson-Sanders win tournament

BUCKY SANDERS, left, of Pahokee, and Abbo Pearson, of Clewiston, display their winning catch at the First Annual Summer Bass Fishing Tournament, held in Belle Glade, Sunday, July 15.

BELLE GLADE—Abbo Pearson, of Clewiston, and Bucky Sanders, of Pahokee, hauled in 27-pounds, 14-ounces worth of fish and $630 worth of first prize in the First Annual Summer Bass Fishing Tournament, Sunday, July 15.

36 anglers competed in the tourney held out of Slim's Marina, in Belle Glade, and co-sponsored by the Belle Glade Motor Inn and the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce. Charles Corbin, of Slim's, reported the tourney went off smoothly. The fishing was excellent, he said, pointing at the figures on the winner's board.

Just behind Pearson and Sanders were Pablo and Julio Sanchez, of Belle Glade, who hooked 25 pounds of bass and brought home a $420 second place check. Mike Richards and Doug Ward, Fort Lauderdale, took third place and $210 with 20 pounds, 12 ounces of bass. Chris Hinchner and Rayland Louvette netted the big fish prize of $180 with a 5-pound, 1-ounce black bass.

Pearson said he and Sanders found their fish in Pelican Bay, using grape shad and Colbert worms. Several four-pound bass keyed the victory, Pearson continued. The pair's biggest catch was a four-pound, six-ounce beauty.

The fish were biting throughout the day, Pearson said, adding that he and Sanders didn't fill their 14-fish limit until the last hour of the tourney.

Also as part of the tourney, a fish fry party was held at the Belle Glade Motor Inn, Saturday night.

PABLO SANCHEZ JR. claims his dad's second place trophy at the First Annual Summer Bass Fishing Tournament.

Tourney attracts anglers

BELLE GLADE—Over 110 anglers competed in the Bass and Buddy tourney held out of Slim's Marina, Saturday, July 14.

Sam Sampson, assistant tourney director for the Fish Finder magazine which sponsors the Bass and Buddy tourney trail, said the Belle Glade tourney went off very smoothly despite some inconsistent fishing and threatening weather.

Johnny Walker, of Fort Myers, and Johnny White, of LaBelle, captured first and second place in the tourney. White, 23, netted 23 pounds, 5 ounces of bass. The year's Angler's Marina, pair caught only 10 clewiston, will host a fish, two less than the tourney Aug. 25, limit, in filling their Fishermen will trek to spring and winning the Okeechobee for a tourney Oct. 20 and $1,440 first place prize. 18 pounds, 3 ounces. Other top anglers included Gene and Bevers Pollard of Okeechobee, second, 21.13; Roger Harris of Punta Gorda, third, 20.1.

The Bass and Buddy event which culminates June 12 with a classic 20-tourney event at an undetermined site.

Special to the Herald-Observer
By TENNESSEE and NANCY PRESCOTT-BROWN

BELLE GLADE—The best fishing in Lake Okeechobee these days can be found either early in the morning or late in the afternoon, times which should continue to produce fish well into August.

Bluegill can be found, if you know where to look. The bluegill have come off the beds and are scattered throughout the deeper waters, often hiding off the edge of the pepper grass or in the dynamite holes, holes made by blasting when the dike was originally built. Crickets and worms are the best bait for someone looking to fill the 50 bluegill limit.

Anglers can find speckled perch wherever water is moving. Pink and chartious jigs should work as bait. Again, the limit for specks is 50 per person.

Overall, fishing on the lake has recovered well from its deep slump about two years ago when the low water level severely affected fishing. Vegetation is very clean and holds more oxygen and more shad, bait shrimp and grass, all of which attracts schools of bass.

Upcoming tournaments include a team tournament being held Sunday, July 22 out of Jolly Roger Marina, in Clewiston. Entry fee is $55 per boat. The lake is off limits to participants from Wednesday through Saturday before the tourney. For more information call the marina.

For tips on what to fish with or where to fish write to "Tennessee" care of the Herald Observer, 1417 N.W. Ave. L, No. 3, Belle Glade.

J.B. SIMMONS, left, was presented an honorary plaque from members of the Kathrine Prince Foundation in a farewell ceremony, Tuesday, July 17. Simmons is moving to Tulsa, Okla., Thursday, July 19. J.R. Orsenigo presented the plaque.

Simmons, foundation eye move

BELLE GLADE—It's a time of change for the Kathrine Prince Foundation, as both the foundation's president and the group itself are eyeing changes in the scene. Members of charity organization honored outgoing President J.B. Simmons in a special farewell ceremony, Tuesday, July 17 at the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce. Simmons, foundation president for the past five years, was scheduled to move to Tulsa, Okla., Thursday, July 19, where he has accepted a position as a buyer with a chain of retail stores. Simmons, a resident of Belle Glade for the past 11 years, said that while it was hard to leave the Prince Foundation, added he was confident the group would continue to grow. He noted the foundation was picking up momentum in its efforts to build a shelter for needy people. The foundation has received a $100,000 grant from Palm Beach County Community Development and is ready to let bids on a 2,000 square foot shelter out on Northwest Avenue D where the Health Department is currently housed. Hopefully, Simmons said, construction will begin in the next year. Formerly an employee with Royals, Simmons said it was also very hard to leave his friends in Belle Glade. "We're going to miss everyone, you all be remember me every day," he said.

Turner honored

BELLE GLADE—More than 80 employees of Glades Correctional Institute honored their retiring boss, Robert V. Turner, with a surprise dedication breakfast, Thursday, July 12.

As part of the festivities, the employees renamed the institute's training facility the R.V. Turner Training Building.

"This is the finest thing that ever happened to me," said Turner, who will retire as of July 31 after 10 years at GCI to accept a position with PRIDE.

Turner said he drove up to the training building, Thursday morning, thinking he was headed for a special meeting with the Attorney General's office staff. "I was still complaining about the meeting as I walked in the door," he said with a smile.

The event was made extra special because of the dedication of the training facility. Training was one aspect of the institute, Turner said, which he took special pains to improve throughout his tenure as superintendent.

RETIRING GCI SUPERINTENDENT Robert Turner was surprised Friday, July 13 with dedication ceremony in which the institute's training facility was officially dubbed the R.V. Turner Training Building.

A TIGHT FIT. It took some doing but workers were able to get NOAH's Alpha house across the West Canal Street bridge and out to its new home on N.W. 10th Street.

NOAH successfully moves Alpha house

BELLE GLADE—Despite some hairy moments, Neighbors for Organized Housing succeeded in moving their first home to its permanent location on Northwest 10th Street. NOAH moved the second part of the building, formerly the First Baptist Church office building, Wednesday, July 11. While movers had some problems maneuvering the 32-foot structure across a 34-foot bridge over West Canal Street, the move was accomplished. The first part of the house was moved back in June.

The foundation for the house is now being set. NOAH member Larry Schwandes said, hopefully the house will be set up on its new foundation either late this month, or in early August.

Schwandes reported that fund raising activities for NOAH are progressing well. The group has raised about $20,122 in efforts to improve housing conditions within the city. The group is also hoping to obtain funds from the Palm Beach County Department of Housing and Community Development. Donations to the group, according to Schwandes, can be made in care of the Rev. Allan Hollis, Union Congregational Church, 2727 Georgia Avenue, West Palm Beach 33405. NOAH has not yet achieved non-profit tax status, so the group is asking that donations be made through the church.
